

KEEPING NORTH CAROLINA'S FORESTS HEALTHY

The emerald ash borer is a striking metallic green color. It is about 1/2" long and if its wing covers are pried up, the beetle's body is a metallic purple-red color. In North Carolina, adults may be present as early as April through mid-summer.

